Cookies Overview

A “cookie” is a small text file that is stored on your browser or device by websites, apps, online media, and advertisements that are used to remember your browser or device during and across website visits.

There are two broad categories of cookies:

- First party cookies, served directly by us to your computer or mobile device.
- Third party cookies, which are served by a third party on our behalf. We use third-party cookies for marketing and analytical purposes. The third-party cookies are outside of our control. The third parties may, at any time, change their terms of service, purpose, and use of cookies, etc.

Cookies can remain on your computer or mobile device for different periods of time. Some cookies are “session cookies,” meaning that they exist only while your browser is open. These are deleted automatically once you close your browser. Other cookies are “permanent cookies,” meaning that they survive after your browser is closed. They can be used by websites to recognize your computer when you open your browser and browse the Internet again.

We may use cookies for several purposes, including:

- Analyzing website traffic;
- Monitoring the performance of our website and continually improving it;
- Customizing and enhancing your online experience;
- Ensuring your privacy is protected;
- Evaluating our website's advertising and promotional effectiveness;
- Generally understanding the online behavior and interests of people who interact with the website.

For privacy and cookie information relating to third-party services, please consult their privacy and cookie policies respectively.

You have the right to choose whether to accept these similar technologies or not. However, they are an important part of how our website works, so you should be aware that if you choose to refuse them, this could affect the availability and functionality of the website.
